Historical Narrative

1848! The conclusion of a war against Mexico in that year resulted in the addition of the vast southwest territory to the United States. Gold was discovered in California. Congress was embroiled in the dispute over slavery which resulted in the Civil War 13 years later. In the remote Adirondack Mountains the Catholic population of two small communities noted two events that would affect their daily lives far more than these national events. For in 1848 Black Brook became a station of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Keeseville. That same year AuSable Forks was named a mission of Keeseville and the deed was secured to property that would become the site of the first Church of the Holy Name in AuSable Forks.

Before the 19th century the area we now call Black Brook and AuSable Forks had seen only the occasional trapper. Gradually settlers from the Champlain Valley began to move westward. Clintonville and Wilmington were settled before AuSable Forks and Black Brook. In 1825 Clintonville was incorporated with a reported population of 6,000.

In 1825 Zephannah Palmer, a surveyor, purchased land that included much of present day Black Brook and the village of AuSable Forks. Palmer intended to raise sheep on his large land holdings. It was this early settler who discovered the iron ore deposits that would become the stimulus for the population increase of the area. These deposits would form the basis for the economy of the region throughout much of the 19th century.

In 1825 Palmer sold his land to the Rogers family. By 1830 the Rogers family had begun iron ore operations. The first shipments of this valuable mineral were made in 1831. Transportation of the product was facilitated by the Port Kent - Hopkinton Turnpike which passed through Black Brook and AuSable Forks and was completed in 1832.

By the 1830s the Catholic communities of AuSable Forks and Black Brook could look forward to irregular visits by missionaries such as Father Menley and Father Rogers. In Black Brook these missionaries held services in a one room school house constructed in 1835. The first masses in both Black Brook and AuSable Forks were celebrated by Father James Rooney, pastor of St. John's parish in Plattsburgh. For the next few years priests from Plattsburgh sporadically traveled to this area for Catholic services.

In 1848 Reverend Michael McDonnell, the resident pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Keeseville, purchased a strip of land along the AuSable River. This lot, located on East AuSable Street in the town of Black Brook in the village of AuSable Forks, was to become the site of the first Church of the Holy Name.

Father McDonnell bought the land from George and Charlotte Burt, who had purchased the land in 1825 from Zephannah Palmer. Father McDonnell spent 3,000 dollars improving the lot over the next three years but was transferred before construction of a church could begin.

Father McDonnell was succeeded in Keeseville by Reverend James Keveny. Father Keveny proceeded with plans for a church on the lot purchased by Father McDonnell. The church was completed in 1854. It was a stone structure called the Church of the Holy Name and was located approximately where Bedard's Sporting Goods store is today. Holy Name remained a mission of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Keeseville until 1868.

In 1856 one of the many floods that were to plague residents along the AuSable River brought disaster to AuSable Forks. A J. & J. Rogers forge and a carpenter's shop along with the new church suffered significant damage. The church was a total loss. History records that Father Keveny was watching the flood waters roll by, as residents often were to do in later years. He recognized parts of the Holy Name church in the flood waters and rushed to AuSable Forks to ascertain the damage. He found only one corner of the church still standing. Father Keveny was further saddened to learn of the drowning of one of the church trustees who had been trying to save some church supplies.

Father Keveny immediately set about rebuilding the church. With financial contributions and labor supplied by parishioners, the task was completed in 1857. The new church was located on the same lot, though it was set farther back from the banks of the river. The church was constructed of wood and was about the size of present day St. Matthew's church in Black Brook. This church was to serve the Holy Name community until 1930 when the present church was completed. Older parishioners still recall attending mass in the wooden structure on AuSable Street. Families would rent pews for an annual fee. The church was heated by a wood stove with fuel provided by parishioners who owned wood lots. Women of the parish made the altar cloths and the cassocks worn by the altar boys. Only one mass was scheduled each Sunday except once a month when the priest traveled to Keene to officiate at a mass in that community. The Sunday each month when there was no mass at Holy Name was known as "Keene Sunday".

Parishioners who recall the old church properties remember a parish hall located where the Colonial Apartments building stands today. The church rectory was located on the same side of the street as the church near the small diner presently owned by Gary Miller.

At the time the first Holy Name church was constructed, upstate New York was under the jurisdiction of the Diocese of Albany. In 1868 Bishop John J. Conroy of the Albany Diocese established the Church of the Holy Name as a parish separate from Keeseville's Immaculate Conception. The parish boundaries included the villages of AuSable Forks, Black Brook, Jay, Upper Jay and Keene. Reverend James Smith became the first resident pastor of the new parish.

Black Brook experienced rapid growth during the period when Holy Name parish was established. This was the result of the thriving iron industry in the area, particularly the J. & J. Rogers Company which had secured ownership of much of the land in the area. The iron ore had proved to be among the best quality of any iron ore deposits known in the world at that time.

Despite the growth in population, Black Brook's Catholic community did not have a church of its own. From 1848 to 1854 Black Brook was a station of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Keeseville. Immaculate Conception was an Irish church which satisfied the English speaking minority of Black Brook but not the French speaking majority. Therefore in 1852 the Oblate Religious Order of the French church in Plattsburgh made Black Brook an independent mission. For the next decade French and Irish were served by priests from Keeseville and Plattsburgh. In 1868 Black Brook became a station of the Church of the Holy Name.

When Father James Smith became the first resident pastor of Holy Name Church (1868) he also assumed responsibility for the station at Black Brook. It soon became apparent to Father Smith that the population increase in the Black Brook area necessitated the construction of a church. However, the remoteness of the area and the shortage of priests in the diocese as well as the poverty of the population delayed the construction of a Catholic church in that community.

In 1872 Pope Pius IX created the Diocese of Ogdensburg. Father Edgar P. Wadhams, who had served as Vicar General of the Albany Diocese became the first bishop of the Ogdensburg diocese. Three years later Bishop Wadhams granted permission for incorporation of the Church of St. Matthew. The Church was incorporated on October 7, 1875.

On May 12, 1876 Father Smith secured land from the J. & J. Rogers Company at the foot of Dugway Hill. The deed, secured for one dollar, contained restrictions which allowed the Rogers Company the right to dig, mine and cut timber on the property. The deed also prohibited the sale of liquor, merchandise and groceries of any kind. The latter restriction was to eliminate the possibility of competition for the company store which had been established in 1835.

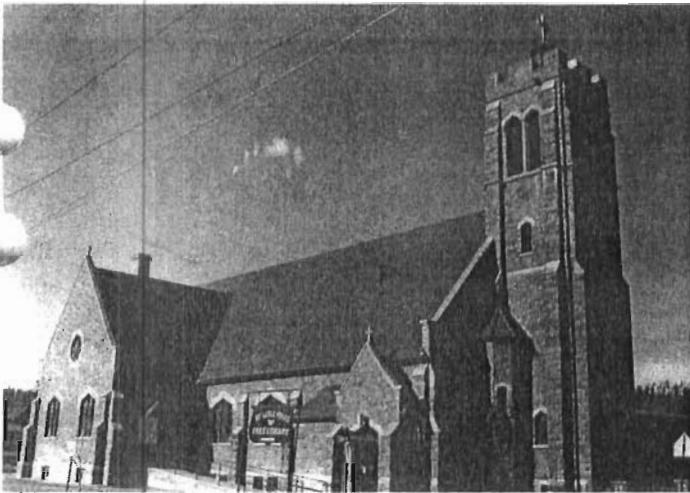

The construction of a church proved to be a major sacrifice for the Catholic community of Black Brook. There were many willing hands to perform the labor but money for the plans and materials was scarce. However, Louis Tebo, a local contractor, produced plans for a church which would have a capacity of over 300. Throughout the summer and fall Tebo directed volunteers in the construction of the exterior of the church. Then Father Smith, who had worked tirelessly to secure the land and construct the church, was transferred, much to the dismay of the parishioners. Reverend Hugh J. Shields became pastor at Holy Name. Over the next two years little progress was made on construction. In 1879 Father John Conlon spent several months at St. Matthew's in Black Brook supervising the plastering of walls, installation of pews, and placement of an altar in the sanctuary. Later that same year, Father James R. Scanlon was assigned as pastor of Holy Name and St. Matthew's. Due to a major fire in the Holy Name rectory, Father Scanlon took up residence temporarily in Black Brook where he continued to oversee the furnishing of St. Matthew's church. Father Scanlon had the distinction of being the only priest born in the Diocese of Ogdensburg at that time, having been born in Hogansburg.

Finally, in May of 1881 Holy Name and St. Matthew's were each assigned a resident pastor. Reverend John J. Fitzgerald assumed responsibility for Holy Name parish and Reverend Thomas P. Carroll became pastor at St. Matthew's. The two parishes would not share a pastor again until 1981 when a shortage of priests necessitated the assignment of only one pastor for both parishes.

Soon after Father Carroll arrived he secured property from the J. & J. Rogers Company to construct a rectory for St. Matthew's parish. This two story building was constructed by a Keeseville contractor named Arthur LaBelle for 1,130 dollars. It was completed in 1881.

Ethnic tension between French and Irish parishioners marred the early history of both parishes, particularly St. Matthew's. Before the construction of the church in Black Brook a plot of land had been donated by the J. & J. Rogers Company for a Catholic cemetery. However, the land was located in the lower village which consisted mainly of French parishioners. The Irish parishioners of the upper village were upset with this location. Father James Smith then undertook the somewhat humiliating task of asking the Rogers Company to substitute a more central location. The Rogers Company agreed and the cemetery lot was located between the upper and lower village.

In 1882 Father Thomas Carroll became ill and left St. Matthew's parish. Reverend Michael Charbonneau replaced Father Carroll. Father Charbonneau was noted for being a most eloquent speaker. However, since he spoke broken English, he chose to deliver his sermons in French. This undoubtedly pleased the French community, many of whom had difficulty understanding English. At the same time Father John J. Fitzgerald, pastor of Holy Name, noted that he felt resentment from many of his French parishioners. To reduce this tension Father Charbonneau and Father Fitzgerald arranged to exchange pulpits on occasion. The French parishioners at St. Matthew's were not pleased by this arrangement. A letter written by Father Fitzgerald notes that the French parishioners at Black Brook "sent forth news that they had nailed up the church; and that they will not have an Irish priest."

Father Charbonneau was determined to win the hearts of all his parishioners at Black Brook, particularly the Irish. He traveled many miles around his vast parish. After several letters he also received proper documentation from the General of the Dominicans and Bishop Wadhams to establish the Confraternity of the Holy Rosary in his parish. He directed construction of a little chapel for Our Lady of the Rosary with paintings, images and a statue of Our Lady in St. Matthew's church. He conducted an impressive and beautiful ceremony blessing the little chapel. Later he reported that 139 members of the Confraternity received communion on the Feast of the Holy Rosary.

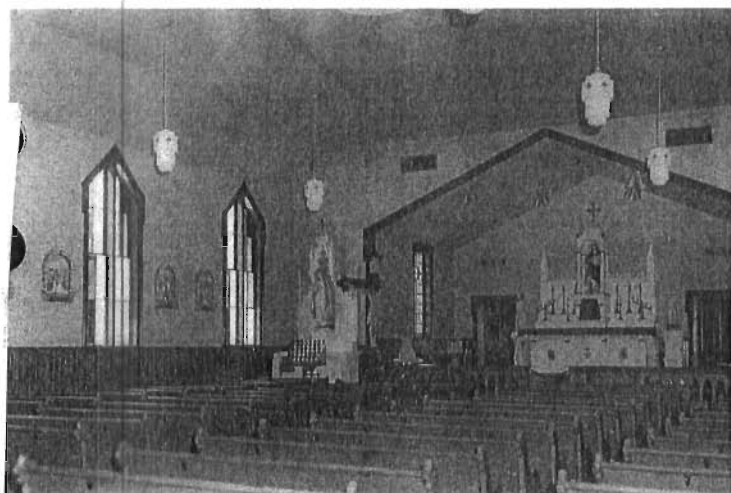

Both French and Irish parishioners at St. Matthew's were impressed with Father Charbonneau's obvious concerns for their spiritual well being. His excellent administration of the parish's financial matters also contributed to his acceptance by the whole Catholic community. He constructed a road to the cemetery, improved the church grounds by removing rock piles and leveling the landscape and purchased a tower bell for the church. All this was done with volunteer labor and a pay-as-you-go policy. By the end of 1884 Father Charbonneau expressed his great admiration for the hard work and generosity of his parishioners. Although Father Charbonneau was at St. Matthew's for only five years, he did much to stabilize the young parish.

Reverend John J. Fitzgerald, Holy Name pastor, was also busy during this time period. He purchased land and directed construction of St. Brendan's church in Keene in 1883. This Catholic community had been a station of Holy Name from 1870 to 1883. After a brief period as a mission of Elizabethtown (1883-1886) it again became a mission of Holy Name and would remain so until 1920.

Holy Name pastors also served stations at Union Falls (1869-1878), Alder Brook (1870s), Franklin Falls, Keene Flats (1875), Beedes (1901-1905), and the Glen in Jay (1905-1914).

In 1893 Father William A. O'Connor was assigned to Holy Name parish. He would remain in AuSable Forks for 30 years. Records show that Reverend O'Connor baptized 1,250 persons and officiated at 377 marriages during his years at Holy Name. Father O'Connor often chose his own names for baptismal records if he did not approve of the names chosen by parents. One can only imagine the confusion resulting in later years when parishioners obtained their baptismal records for some legal purpose.

Father O'Connor was also responsible for the founding of Holy Name School. In 1909 he purchased the unused public school building on the corner of McCrea and Palmer Streets in the town of Black Brook for the sum of $2,750. Five Sisters of Mercy were the first teachers for 216 pupils in grades one through four when the school opened in 1913. In 1915 the Sisters of St. Joseph assumed responsibility for the school. The John Picot house on McCrea Street was purchased from the Davey family to serve as a convent for the sisters assigned to Holy Name School.

After Father O'Connor died in 1922, Reverend Clarence A. Kitts became pastor of Holy Name parish. During the first year of his 10-year pastorate Father Kitts directed construction of an addition to Holy Name School. Grades five and six were added as the school continued to thrive. Current parishioners who remember attending the school speak very fondly of those days. The curriculum was limited to reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, history and religion, as were most schools in those days. There was no gymnasium for physical education or organized sports teams. Physical education consisted of playground activities conceived by the sisters and students.

At the end of the 19th century the area was experiencing economic difficulties and a population decrease due to the declining production of the local mines. Steel was replacing iron as the major material used in many products. The open pit mines west of the Great Lakes were faster and cheaper to operate than the mines of the Adirondacks, although the quality of the iron ore was not as good. The J. & J. Rogers Company began to consider the possibility of producing other products to replace their iron operations. The available timber in the area led the company to open a paper mill in 1901. The Robenson Process Company opened a small sulfide mill to utilize waste products from the paper mill. These industries partially offset the decline of the iron ore industry in the area.

St. Matthew's parish was particularly hard hit by the declining economy. The decline in the number of Catholic families forced pastors to seek other sources of revenue. Fortunately, tourism was beginning to contribute to the local economy. St. Matthew's pastors established stations at the Silver Lake Hotel and Loon Lane House during the summer months. The generosity of the Catholic vacationers at these stations brought much needed revenue to St. Matthew's parish.

The pastors of St. Matthew's in the late 19th century had to be hardy men. The boundaries of the parish were not clearly defined. Missions or stations were maintained at Saranac Lake, Paul Smiths, Bloomingdale, the Kiln, Harrietstown, and Union Falls. One can imagine the many hours spent by the pastors traveling by horse and buggy or horseback to these remote locations. This burden was somewhat relieved when Reverend Richard O'Donnell became the resident pastor of St. Rose of Lima in Alder Brook. A church had been built in 1854 and served as a mission of Holy Name and later St. Matthew's. Father O'Donnell had been assigned to St. Matthew's in 1891. He so loved the St. Rose of Lima church and the parishioners of that area that he requested a transfer there which was granted in 1893. Father O'Donnell assumed responsibility for several of the stations and missions that had been assigned to St. Matthew's. Reverend O'Donnell continued his ministry at Alder Brook despite a fire that destroyed the church in 1924. He continued to offer mass in the rectory in winter and in the parish hall in summer. Despite Father O'Donnell's pleading, the bishop refused to grant permission for construction of a new church. Father O'Donnell continued at Alder Brook until his death in 1949.

In 1907, despite the decline in the Catholic population, St. Matthew's decided to construct a parish hall. This structure, located behind the church, was completed by Reverend Telesphore Campeau. Once again the lack of financial means was overcome by the efforts of volunteer workers. This hall became a major source of pride for St. Matthew's parishioners. The parish hall had a stage with curtains and lights which was utilized for minstrel shows and medicine shows. Beginning in the late 1920s the hall became a theater for showing movies. Square dances were also held. Besides dinners and other parish revenue activities, the hall was used for bingo parties. The prizes would not entice today's bingo lovers. So-called penny bingos for a penny a card would bring the winners a choice of canned goods brought by the patrons. The purpose of the bingo was to bring the people together and encourage parish spirit.

In 1921 most Reverend Joseph Henry Conroy became the third bishop of the Diocese of Ogdensburg. He succeeded Right Reverend Henry Gabriels who served as bishop of the diocese from 1892 until 1921. One of the first actions of Bishop Conroy was to order the publication of the first Official Directory of the diocese (1922). It is interesting to note the size of some of the parishes and missions in the area. Holy Name parish had 246 families and 181 parochial school students. St. Rose of Lima at Alder Brook with a mission at Bloomingdale reported 78 families. St. Matthew's reported only 37 families.

In 1922 Reverend Hermenegilde J. Brisson became pastor of St. Matthew's. In 1922 Father Brisson reported that 60 families resided in the parish despite diocesan official records of only 37 families. This apparent contradiction is explained by the fact that many families in the western end of the parish considered themselves parishioners of St. Rose of Lima in Alder Brook.

Father Brisson's long tenure at St. Matthew's was marked by controversy. By 1925 St. Matthew's faced a dilemma. The parish had a debt of 500 dollars and the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the parish was approaching. Church revenues were meager. Father Brisson knew that parishioners could not afford to increase support for the celebration. Indeed, he did not employ a housekeeper because revenues were inadequate. He often received food, wood and garden produce instead of monetary contributions for his own subsistence. Further debt did not seem a viable option. Once again the J. & J. Rogers company stepped forward with a large donation to the parish but there was a condition. In return for the donation Father Brisson was expected to support, indeed explicitly advocate, a particular slate of candidates in the upcoming local elections. This slate of candidates included a non-Catholic for a position also sought by a member of Father Brisson's parish. The resulting controversy caused a sharp drop in church attendance and revenue. It took several years for the parish to recover.

Despite these difficulties, the hardworking priest pressed on. During Father Brisson's years at St. Matthew's a 4th of July celebration was initiated to bring in much needed revenue. This became an annual event attracting people throughout the region. This annual celebration continued until the 1950s. The church was also redecorated. A new crucifix and a statue of St. Theresa were added. In 1930 a new lighting system was installed with money donated by the J. & J. Rogers Company. The rectory and parish hall were also renovated. Despite his early difficulties Father Brisson became a much respected pastor. Several of today's older parishioners speak of him with fond memories of a caring man.

The 1920s were an eventful period in AuSable Forks and Holy Name parish. Father Clarence A. Kitts became pastor of Holy Name in 1922.

Described by some as a strict, somewhat inflexible and single minded pastor, Father Kitts had ambitious plans for the parish. He immediately began making plans for a fine new church. He established a building fund and convinced the J. & J. Rogers Company to pledge $5,000 toward construction of the new church. It would take 8 years for his dream to come true. A great fire was to change the appearance of downtown AuSable Forks during those intervening 8 years.

The devastating fire of 1925 destroyed most of the business district of that day. It started in a store called "Candyland" in the H. Smith and Company block. This block included a department store located where Feek Pharmacy and NAPA Auto Supply stores stand today. The AuSable House, located where the present day Aubuchon store is situated, was destroyed. In the other direction, the fire progressed as far as the Knights of Columbus building which was located on the site of today's Holy Name church. On the other side of the street the fire consumed buildings from the present day bank to the corner of School Street and Main. Among the businesses destroyed were the old bank building and the AuSable Supply Co., a four story general store. St. James Episcopal church was gutted. Forty-five families were left homeless by this fire. In the weeks that followed the fire the community worked diligently to rebuild. The resulting reconstruction is the main street we are familiar with today.

After the fire Father Kitts rededicated himself to his plan for a new church. A brief setback was experienced in 1926 when money from the building fund was used to complete the mission church of St. Margaret's in Wilmington. The original contractor completed the exterior of St. Margaret's in 1924, but then left the community after incurring $1,700 worth of bills. The small mission was unable to raise the additional money to complete the interior of the church. For two years Father Kitts conducted mass on an altar consisting of a few boards placed on sawhorses. Eventually Holy Name parish decided to assist St. Margaret's with money to complete the interior of the church.

Meanwhile money for the building fund for a new Holy Name church was gathered. Church raffles, candy sales, dinners, and pledges gained by canvassing the parishioners had raised enough money to cover the anticipated $150,000 cost of the project. Father Kitts had secured a promise from the Perry Green Granite Quarry, a business located near the village, to donate the stone to be used in construction. On January 29, 1929 Bishop Conroy gave permission for construction of the new church. On February 4, 1929 Council #2301 of the Knights of Columbus, which had been founded in 1921, offered to donate their lot on the corner of Main and Church Streets. The parish agreed to fund the removal of the Knights' building located at that site to a new location on Pleasant Street. The K of C hall was removed and construction began on July 7th. Plans for the structure had been drawn by D.D. Kreff of Watertown, an architect who had designed several other churches in the Diocese of Ogdensburg. By August 15, 1929 the impatient Father Kitts offered the first mass, despite the fact that the church was still without a roof. Construction continued until the last stone to the tower was finally laid on November 27, 1929.

On July 27, 1930 a little more than a year after construction had begun, Bishop Conroy dedicated the new church. The memorable ceremony was preceded by a parade led by mounted state troopers. It included the Drum and Bugle Corps, a Holy Name guard of honor carrying the U.S. flag and the Papal flag and 200 members of the Knights of Columbus. Then followed Bishop Conroy and Father Kitts with two other clergymen in a convertible car escorted by a delegation of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus. The solemn dedication of the new church followed the parade.

Holy Name church was constructed in the Tudor-Gothic architectural style. It is 127 feet long and 48 feet wide. The top of the tower on the exterior front of the structure stands 65 feet above the sidewalk. The seating capacity of the main body of the church is 325, while the chapel can seat an additional 25, and the choir loft seats 25 more. The basement of the church, with a seating capacity of over 300 became the site of many parish and Holy Name school activities. The main altar was transported from the old church on East AuSable Street. This altar had been carved by John Willis Sr. in the 1890s for the old Holy Name church. Side altars dedicated to St. Joseph and the Virgin Mary were completed soon after the dedication. The oak pillars and tile floor added immensely to the stately beauty of the church. In 1933 a marble altar rail was added. In 1936 new pews replaced those that had been brought over from the old church.

One can imagine the elation and joy of Father Clarence Kitts and Holy Name parishioners on that day of dedication in 1930. The church had been completed at the onset of the Great Depression years in the U.S. These people could not know of the difficult days that the next decade would bring to the country and the region. One can only wonder if the gigantic task of constructing a new church would have proceeded if people had known of the dark days ahead.

The next two decades (1930-1950) were a period of consolidation and spiritual renewal for both Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes. The Great Depression and World War II years (1940-1945) were a time when revenues were limited at St. Matthew's and Holy Name. Routine maintenance and repairs were carried on during this period but few expensive projects were initiated. The spiritual growth of St. Matthew's was fostered by three very active societies: Holy Childhood, Propagation of the Faith, and Sacred Heart. Over 200 parishioners participated in these three societies. In 1933 Bishop Conroy decreed that a program of Comprehensive Catholic Action for catechetical instruction be initiated in all parishes. Student instruction booklets and manuals were developed for training religious education teachers. Holy Name parish participated in this program with summer vacation school classes for parish youth.

Modern day parishioners at St. Matthew's would note major differences if they had attended mass in the late 1930s. Geographically the parish was very large so parishioners from outlying areas such as Wilmington, Alder Brook and Peasleeville had to travel quite a distance to attend the one mass scheduled late on Sunday morning in the winter. Many carried paper bags with sandwiches since church rules of that time required fasting from dawn to receive communion. Most were warmly clothed because the church was cold, except for those fortunate enough to be seated in pews near the two wood stoves located midway along the side aisles of the church. Of course the stoves had to be connected to the chimney located at the end of the building. This necessitated a stove pipe system reputed to be the longest of any church in the diocese. This detracted significantly from the beauty of the interior of the church. Families rented pews on a yearly basis for a small fee. No records exist suggesting that a greater fee would secure a pew closer to the two wood stoves.

In those days mass was prayed in Latin with the priest facing away from the congregation. Altar boys were the only non-clergy permitted in the sanctuary. The sermon (homily) was usually much longer than is common today. Priests often were quite pointed in criticizing the behavior of society in general and occasionally members of the parish. Although specific names would not be mentioned, usually at least a few parishioners were humbled by these remarks. The bible selections were all read by the priest. Responses (in Latin) were given by the mass servers instead of the congregation. Parishioners received communion while kneeling at an altar rail at the front edge of the sanctuary.

One event in the late 1930s would bring much suffering to AuSable Forks. The fall of 1938 had been a warm, beautiful season. However, in late fall a hurricane swept northward along the east coast of New England. The hurricane did not reach inland to the AuSable Valley but it brought four days of rain to the region. The resulting flood of the AuSable River brought a reported $200,000 damage to the village. The bridge connecting the Black Brook and Jay sides of the village, which had been reconstructed in 1931, was partially washed away. Two buildings were undermined and toppled into the river. Every store on main Street was filled with 4 or 5 feet of water. The Adirondack Record office suffered extensive damage. A railroad bridge owned by the Roberson Process Co. was carried away. The pavement on Main Street suffered severe damage and had to be replaced. Once again, as had happened so many times in the past and would happen in the future, the community was faced with repairs due to flood damage.

At the end of World War II Reverend Walter C. McMahon became the pastor at St. Matthew's. Although he was pastor for only five years (1945-1950) he is remembered by many older parishioners with great affection. He was a very friendly man and also had an avid interest in outdoor activities common to the Adirondacks. He often would say mass clothed in a flannel shirt and boots under his cassock because he planned to join some men of the parish in a day of hunting. One Sunday he announced that the parish debt had been paid off and then proceeded to burn the debt document on the altar. He left the parish in good financial condition with a surplus which was used in later years for renovations. One of his most notable renovations at St. Matthew's was the installation of a central heating system which eliminated the wood stoves and stove pipes that had previously marred the appearance of the church.

During the 1950s and 1960s further renovations were made, particularly under pastor Reverend George A. Fontaine (1950-1955). During this period adequate funds were available to pastors for projects beyond routine maintenance. Under Father Fontaine's directions, the interior and exterior of the church were painted. The church's statues were refurbished and lighting improved. Two stained glass windows were installed in the sanctuary. A vestibule was constructed outside the front entrance. Besides reducing the cold drafts when people entered the church it added significantly to the attractiveness of the structure. Reverend J. Everett Denesha continued with further renovations in the 1960s. He extended the sanctuary into the church proper and removed a couple of pews in the front of the church. A more efficient heating system was installed with a furnace beneath the church floor instead of in the sacristy. Other renovations included new oak pews, a set of Stations of the Cross and a new organ. Numerous renovations were also made in the rectory and the parish hall under these pastors. All of this work was accomplished without the parish incurring debt. This was in large part due to the increase in the number of families, particularly in summer months. The growth of summer homes at Fern Lake and Silver Lake were of great benefit to St. Matthew's.

The spiritual life of the parish also flourished during this time. The Altar-Rosary Society was re-established and a Holy Name Society for men was started. On April 30, 1951 Most Reverend Bryan Joseph McEntegart, fifth bishop of Ogdensburg, presided over a celebration of the 75th anniversary of the parish's incorporation. At that point in time St. Matthew's was a vibrant, active parish looking forward to many more years of service to God.

Two anniversaries were also celebrated at Holy Name. On April 21, 1948 the parish celebrated the 100th anniversary of the purchase of the land for the first church. In July 1954 Holy Name celebrated the centennial of the building of the first Holy Name church. Bishop Walter Philip Kellenberg presided at a mass celebrated by Reverend Ralph Hoffman. Father Hoffman enjoyed a 20-year assignment (1944-1964) at Holy Name. Besides celebrating these anniversaries Father Hoffman redecorated the church and renovated Holy Name School. He also witnessed the first lay teacher at the school, Mrs. Emelia Nolan, in 1957.

In the 1950s Father Hoffman decided to give up the annual Labor Day Celebration. Local organizations continued the annual event for a number of years. This celebration had begun during the years when Holy Name church was located on East AuSable Street. The event, then known as the Fall Celebration, was initiated to bring additional funds into parish coffers. The J. & J. Rogers Co. had donated canvas for the first booths and tents. The celebration had grown into a much anticipated event and served as a meeting place for many friends throughout the area. In 1970 the Labor Day celebration was re-established as a parish event under the leadership of assistant pastor Reverend Philip T. Allen and Eunice Aubin. It remains a much anticipated event to this day.

Most Reverend James Johnston Navagh, seventh bishop of Ogdensburg, was very active in promoting Catholic education and encouraged the construction of several schools in the diocese. Among the schools constructed under his tenure as bishop was a new Holy Name school. The old building was no longer adequate to serve the student body. The number of students had grown to 208 pupils, necessitating the use of the church basement for two grades. In 1960 Father Hoffman announced a fund drive for a new school. One hundred and one thousand dollars was collected in gifts and pledges from Holy Name and St. Matthew's. Contractors from Massena, NY immediately began construction and by the fall of 1961 the building was ready to welcome the first classes. Bishop Navagh blessed and dedicated the school on November 5, 1961. By 1963 there were 282 students in grades one through eight. This was to be the high point of enrollment. In 1970 the school board determined that the financial stability of the school could best be served by discontinuing grades 7 and 8. In 1986 Holy Name school added a kindergarten class. In 1990 a pre-kindergarten class was started in the convent.

The decade of the 1960s was a time of change for St. Matthew's and Holy Name parishes, as it was for Catholics throughout the world. On December 25, 1961 Pope John XXIII convened the Council in Humane Salutis, more commonly known as the Second Vatican Council. The sessions continued after the death of Pope John XXIII under his successor, Pope Paul VI. Most Reverend Thomas Andrew Donnellan, the ninth bishop of Ogdensburg, proceeded to implement the conciliar decrees in this diocese. Parishioners began to notice the changes by late 1964. The priests began to face the people while celebrating mass (still in Latin). The next year English was used for some parts of the mass. By 1968 the mass was celebrated completely in English throughout the diocese. The role of the laity also began to expand at this time. Bishop Donnellan directed that parish councils and parish boards be formed in every parish in the diocese. Along with other American Catholics, North Country Catholics were divided in their views on these changes. However, in general, the changes were welcomed by nearly all within a few years.

The 1960s also saw changes in Holy Name parish properties. In 1962 the parish purchased the former Edward Featherstone home on the corner of Main and Church Streets in AuSable Forks as a replacement for the old rectory on East AuSable Street. Five years later, amid plans to relocate the Sisters closer to the school, the former Harry Graves home was purchased and established as the rectory, and the Featherstone building became the new convent. 1967 was also the year that the Sisters of St. Joseph commemorated 50 years of service to Holy Name parish. Bishop Donnellan was on hand to celebrate the 50 years and bless the convent. [In 1997 the Sisters of St. Joseph found they were unable to assign any sisters to Holy Name School.]

By the 1970s the economy of the area was changing significantly. In 1963 the AuSable Acres complex was started on land previously owned by the Rogers Company. By 1970 nearly 900 lots had been sold and about 200 homes had been built. Many of these homes were purchased by summer residents and people who retired to this region of the Adirondacks.

In 1971 the economy of the area suffered a severe setback. In February of that year the paper mill that had operated for 70 years was permanently closed. The J. & J. Rogers Company had sold the mill in 1951 and ownership passed through the hands of three companies before its operations were terminated. It had served as this region's major employer, at one time employing nearly 300 people. Many of the employees continued to live in the area and found work in Plattsburgh, Lake Placid, and Dannemora.

1971 was also the year that Reverend George W. Tobin became pastor of Holy Name parish. In six years as pastor Father Tobin directed extensive renovation of the church. The wooden doors at the front and side entrances were replaced with glass doors. New wiring and a much needed new lighting system were installed. The sanctuary was renewed and renovated along the guidelines of the decrees of the Second Vatican Council. The old altar was dismantled. The top part, made of wood, was discarded. The lower section made of marble was refashioned into three pieces, the main altar, the lectern and the baptismal font that are presently in place. The placement of the altar enabled the priest to face the people during mass. With the roles of the laity renewed in the Second Vatican Council, lay people were installed as lectors and also as Eucharistic ministers. Also during Father Tobin's pastorate the Knights of Columbus organization was reactivated and a ladies' auxiliary was formed.

Under the direction of Reverend John J. Fallon (1968-1975) St. Matthew's church was also renovated to meet Second Vatican Council guidelines. The sanctuary was reduced to its original size. New lighting was installed in the sanctuary and the church interior was redecorated. A new tabernacle and stand were purchased along with a new altar. Two new outdoor statues, one of St. Joseph and one of St. Matthew, were donated and placed in front of the church. The sacristy was also completely renovated.

Misfortune was experienced by St. Matthew's parish in 1971. That winter and spring there was an unusual amount of snow and ice. This caused the roof of the parish hall to collapse. It was the largest building in the community and a significant loss to Catholics and non-Catholics alike. The hall had served as a social center as well as a spacious voting facility on election days. The debris from the hall was quickly removed by volunteers; reconstruction, however, was delayed for several years.

In 1975 Reverend John J. Looby was assigned to replace Father Fallon. One of his first goals was to rebuild the parish hall. Reconstruction was nearing completion when Father Looby was reassigned. Under his successor, Father James A. Bucaria, it was decided to rent the facility to Mountain Farms Inc., a seed company. In 1987 the hall burned to the ground and reconstruction has not been feasible.

1976 marked the 100th anniversary of St. Matthew's incorporation as a parish. A Mass of Rededication commemorating the centennial of the old building was celebrated by Most Reverend Stanislaus J. Brzana, tenth bishop of Ogdensburg. A luncheon was held on church grounds following the mass. Fortunately the pleasant weather made the occasion most enjoyable. A parish history entitled The Heritage of St. Matthew's Parish of Black Brook, New York 1832-1876-1976 authored by Jeffrey A. Gauthier was also published to mark the 100th anniversary. [The St. Matthew's portion of this present narrative is taken largely from that document of Mr. Gauthier.]

In 1977 Reverend L. William Gordon became the pastor of Holy Name parish. He was assisted first by Deacon Charles E. Chase, followed by Reverend Peter G. Helfrich and later by Reverend Theodore M. Gillette. Father Gordon soon began preparations for the 125th anniversary of the first Holy Name church constructed in 1854. Father Gordon decided that repairs to the church were needed for the anniversary. One Sunday Father Gordon led his parishioners behind the altar and through the sacristy to point out damage done by the weather over the years. As part of the upcoming anniversary a major fund raising drive was initiated. The money was to be used for needed repairs, restoration and renovation of the chapel and also to reduce the large parish debt. A goal of 115,000 dollars was set for this anniversary appeal. The goal was surpassed; over 132,475 dollars in pledges and gifts were raised to fund the work. In 1980 workers began repointing and weatherproofing the exterior granite. The chapel was renovated for use in daily mass. In the rear of the church a reconciliation room was constructed. Also, a handicapped access ramp was constructed as part of the renovation. On October 12, 1980 Bishop Stanislaus Brzana visited the parish to celebrate the rededication mass and observe the completed work.

The 125th anniversary was completed with the publication of a parish history entitled A Heritage in the Holy Name of Jesus. This booklet was edited by Margaret L. Nolan, Barbara L. Bombard, David G. Yando, Shirley H. George, and Emilia Nolan Walter. [The author of this present narration depended heavily on that booklet for information about Holy Name parish.]

The 125th anniversary fund drive proved very successful in reducing the debt of Holy Name parish. This debt had been incurred by the construction of Holy Name School in 1961, the purchase of the Featherstone property and the purchase of the Graves property as well as various repairs and renovations. In August of 1978 the parish debt was $132,811.55. Despite the work for the 125th anniversary, by January 1, 1983 the debt had been reduced to $54,000. In 1982 parishes in the Odenburg Diocese initiated a Stewardship program. This program called on parishioners to use their time, talents, and treasure for support of their parish and the greater honor and glory of God. Father Gordon praised the efforts of his parishioners in further reducing the debt under this program. Finally, in December 1986 Father Richard S. Sturtz informed Holy Name parishioners that the debt had been eliminated for the first time in 26 years.

Various bequests by the estates of deceased parishioners and donations for repairs and other specific purposes have played a significant role in maintaining and beautifying Holy Name and St. Matthew's properties. Two examples of this generosity occurred while Father Gordon was pastor. A parishioner donated statues of patron saints Elizabeth Ann Seton and John Neumann to Holy Name church. A small alcove in the back of the church containing these statues was dedicated in memory of priests and sisters who had served the parish. Another project was completed in the spring of 1980 with nearly $10,000 in donations: a new vault was added to the Holy Name cemetery. Volunteer labor by parishioners completed the project.

For 100 years St. Matthew's enjoyed the services of a resident pastor. This long tradition ended in 1981. Reverend James A. Bucaria, who had succeeded Father John J. Looby, was transferred from St. Matthew's in early 1981 after serving for three years. Unfortunately, the decline in vocations in the diocese forced Bishop Brzana to make the difficult decision to not replace Father Bucaria. Reverend L. William Gordon, pastor at Holy Name, was named administrator of St. Matthew's parish.

Although only one pastor was assigned for the two parishes, each parish maintained its independence. Each parish is still represented by its own trustees. The finances of the two parishes also remain separate. Gradually the day to day administration of the parishes was integrated to facilitate a more efficient operation. In July 1982 the Sunday bulletins were combined as one publication with news and schedules of both parishes. In 1983 the weekly envelopes bore the names of both parishes for the first time.

One of the major developments in the recent history of Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes has been the increased responsibilities of the laity in the liturgy as well as the mission of the church. Many of these responsibilities are tasks formerly assumed by the priests and sisters assigned to the parishes. Today deacons and lay ministers have joined altar servers in the sanctuary during the celebration of the mass. Among the first permanent deacons in the diocese was Holy Name parishioner Joseph H. Gilbert II. Deacon Gilbert was ordained by Bishop Brzana on May 20, 1982. He was appointed Pastoral Assistant to Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes during the summer of that year. This was during the pastorate of Father Gordon. As a member of the clergy Deacon Gilbert has a significant part in the liturgy of the mass. He also prepares candidates for baptism and marriage and officiates at ceremonies for these sacraments. He conducts communion services and carries out other responsibilities to assist the pastor. Deacons do not celebrate mass or hear confessions. During the pastorate of Reverend Lawrence E. Marullo Deacon Gilbert began to deliver the homily at weekend masses once a month. Deacon Gilbert's presence has been particularly valuable since 1988 when the last assistant pastor was transferred from the two parishes and not replaced.

The laity have also been receiving additional training and enrichment in the diocesan "Formation for Ministry" program. This program consists of a class one night each week for two years on topics of faith, scripture, liturgy, church, etc. The Formation experience assists laity in understanding the church better and the roles they are filling or can undertake for the good of the Church. As of December 1997 eleven parishioners have received training in the Formation for Ministry program.

In June 1983 Father Gordon was transferred to St. Alexander's parish in Morrisonville, and in November of that year, the assistant, Father Frank Walworth was also transferred. Reverend Richard S. Sturtz became the pastor of Holy Name and St. Matthew's. Reverend Richard D. Demers was appointed parochial vicar and served the parishes until 1987, when he was succeeded by Reverend Francis Coryer who served until 1988.

Father Sturtz directed a number of projects to improve and maintain parish properties during his years as pastor. Over $12,000 was spent repairing the Holy Name church tower. Padded kneelers were also added to the church. A wood carving of a dove symbolizing the Holy Spirit was placed over the baptismal font to the right of the main altar. A much needed storage building was constructed behind Holy Name cemetery. At St. Matthew's, vinyl siding was added to the church exterior. A Reconciliation room was constructed replacing the confessional in the back of the church. A handicapped access ramp was constructed at the main entrance. A new furnace was installed; repairs were made to the roof; and parts of the church interior were repainted.

Father Sturtz's concern for the spiritual life of parishioners provided the stimulus for a number of programs in the mid 1980s. In 1985 a seven week "Life in the Spirit" seminar launched the charismatic movement in the two parishes. Another seminar was held in 1987. At each seminar presentations by a diocesan team guided participants through a study of the basics of Catholic faith followed by a renewed commitment. These seminars offered an introduction to living one's life more fully in the Spirit. The charismatic movement is often characterized by less formality and more spontaneous expression of emotion in prayer and worship. In ensuing years several participating parishioners have attested to their own spiritual growth through reflections delivered at weekend masses. Another outgrowth of the charismatic movement has been prayer groups that meet informally in parishioners' homes.

Father Sturtz also initiated a number of other programs designed to enrich and renew the spiritual growth of parishioners in both parishes. Evenings of reflection, scripture classes, and bible discussion groups were begun in 1987. Inquiry classes for parishioners interested in a deeper knowledge of their faith were also initiated in that year.

Annual missions were a major element of Lenten observance and renewal in the 1980s and continue to this day. Several parishioners recall the mission homilies of Monsignor Bernard Kellogg at St. Matthew's and Holy Name. His humor and wit as well as his spiritual messages made these missions memorable events. More recently the healing services conducted by Jeannine Nichols have inspired many parishioners.

Father Sturtz was also very active in promoting ecumenism in our region. Thirty-five years ago the Second Vatican Council initiated a program of ecumenism encouraging the unity of all Christians. Most Reverend Thomas A. Donnellan, ninth bishop of Ogdensburg, was especially progressive in this endeavor. Among his many pronouncements on the subject was an address delivered to the AuSable Valley clergy in 1967. He urged ordinary people to be involved in the work of unity, rather than leaving the task to experts. Priests of the diocese became increasingly confident that things could be accomplished by initiatives at the local level.

Several years before Father Sturtz arrived in our parishes the AuSable Valley Ministerial Association was founded to promote and coordinate ecumenical activities. Beginning with Father Sturtz, pastors of Holy Name and St. Matthew's have been very active in this organization. Deacon Gilbert has also been an active member. The association holds monthly meetings. Ecumenical Thanksgiving and Easter Sunrise services are annual events, and ecumenical prayer services, potluck luncheons and hymn sings are held periodically. In 1985 the Association sponsored a seminar to study the drug problem in our communities. The organization has also strongly supported the Habitat for Humanity housing program for needy families.

The spirit of ecumenism at St. Matthew's and Holy Name has been demonstrated in additional ways. A perusal of church bulletins over the last few years reveal numerous references to community and social activities of other churches in our area. In 1984 a food pantry for needy families was started in Holy Name rectory. Space was set aside for non-perishable goods where needy persons could procure provisions during difficult times. This concern for all members of the community has become an important part of the St. Matthew's and Holy Name parish mission, and it enjoys the support of the wider community.

1988 marked a change in pastors for Holy Name and St. Matthew's. In April Father Richard Sturtz was reassigned to St. Alexander's parish in Morrisonville. On July 16th the parishes welcomed Reverend Lawrence E. Marullo who had served in Star Lake. Also, in July Father Francis Coryer was reassigned as parochial vicar in Keeseville. No parochial vicar was assigned to replace Father Coryer. Except for a period of time in the 1970s, Holy Name parish had enjoyed the services of an assistant pastor since the 1920s. The two parishes had been assigned three priests a decade earlier (a pastor at St. Matthew's, a pastor and associate at Holy Name), but now found themselves with the services of only one priest shared by the two parishes.

Father Marullo was often seen joining volunteers in labor on numerous parish projects. His extensive carpentry skills were put to good use maintaining and enhancing parish properties. In 1988 a new garage and workshop were constructed behind the Holy Name rectory. Two years later plans were made to construct a new peaked roof for Holy Name school. The existing flat roof design had led to a number of problems and required frequent repair. Despite a delay in securing a variance from the appropriate authority, the project was completed with volunteer labor in 1991. Renovation of the Holy Name sanctuary was another project. Memorial gifts of a new crucifix, planters and accent lights were beautiful additions to the sanctuary. A church sign designed, constructed and installed by volunteer labor graced the front of the Holy Name church lot.

At St. Matthew's a plan to sell the vacant rectory was blocked by a deed stipulation that required the land to be returned to the J. & J. Rogers corporation if it was not to be used by the parish. The parish council then decided to rent the rectory to provide revenue for the parish. A lavatory was constructed adjacent to the vestibule at the main entrance of the church.

Father Marullo's pastorate witnessed a continued integration of the administration of St. Matthew's and Holy Name parishes. In July of 1988 the two parish councils decided to combine their meetings. In the fall of 1992 one Pastoral Council under a revised constitution replaced the two parish councils. Council members are elected separately to assure representation of laity from each parish. Also in the fall of 1992 a Parish Finance Council was established as a separate working body to oversee the finances of each parish.

One of the most significant spiritual events during Father Marullo's pastorate was a renewal retreat held in 1991. The retreat, conducted by Monsignor Noel Zimmerman, attracted over 50 parishioners. This retreat sparked a series of "renew nights". Once every month or two, many parishioners met for teachings, small group discussions and social activities. Parishioners who participated enjoyed the experience and remarked on the opportunities for spiritual renewal offered by these evenings.

Father Marullo initiated an inspirational newsletter entitled "Bringing It Home" in 1989. The newsletter was published quarterly as an insert to the church bulletin. The publication was designed as an aid to spiritual reflection on the Word of God and its application to daily life. Over the next few months several parishioners shared their personal experiences in the newsletter.

Reverend Marullo was transferred to St. Bartholomew's parish in Old Forge, New York in September 1992 and Reverend Donald F. Kramberg assumed responsibility for St. Matthew's and Holy Name parishes.

One of the first tasks for Father Kramberg was to address the problem of finances in the two parishes. At Holy Name, earlier repairs to the church tower, renovation of the sanctuary, replacement of the school and church underground fuel tank, and normal maintenance had necessitated borrowing from the diocese. In 1992 the budget was in deficit and, by the end of that year, the parish debt had increased to $30,527.90. St. Matthew's also experienced concern for parish revenues in the late 1980s and early 1990s. Historically, the parish debt had been kept very small by the diligent efforts of volunteer laborers. However, by 1992 revenues were not sufficient to cover normal expenses. Two fund raisers, a craft fair and a daily drawing lottery were held as a temporary remedy. Father Kramberg sought the help of the McKenna Tithing Program and invited several parishioners from other parishes to speak about their positive experiences with tithing in their parishes. In July 1993 a tithing program was started in Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes. This resulted in significant improvement in revenues. In the summer of 1995 and again in the fall of 1997 several parishioners gave personal reflections on their tithing experiences. These personal testimonials have fostered tithing and helped to maintain revenues.

Several projects during the pastorate of Father Kramberg have served to maintain and upgrade the properties of Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes. An outdoor sound system was installed at both churches to project recorded music throughout both communities for a brief period each day. At Holy Name the Reconciliation Room was relocated and a lavatory constructed on the main floor. Energy conservation measures at the school and the rectory brought long term savings. Holy Name students benefited from the construction of a fenced-in playground with additional recreational equipment. St. Matthew's church interior was painted and the parking lot blacktopped. The handicapped access ramp at Holy Name was relocated to avoid snow sliding dangerously from the church roof. The Knights of Columbus assumed the task of putting a new roof on the rectory. The Holy Name church interior was repainted in the fall of 1997 as part of the preparation for the 150th anniversary of the parish. Space re-allocation at Holy Name School included renovations to make room for the pre-kindergarten class that had previously been conducted at the convent.

Once again most of these projects were completed with volunteer labor. Many hours are contributed by parishioners for bingo, dinners, cemetery work bees and other parish activities. The Labor Day Celebration would not be possible without the efforts of parishioners and our non-Catholic neighbors as well as friends from other areas. The continued existence of Holy Name School is very dependent on the volunteer efforts of parents as well as other parishioners and friends. Beginning in the 1980s, volunteers have been recognized periodically with picnics and luncheons.

Organizations such as the Knights of Columbus, the Knights of Columbus Auxiliary, the Catholic Daughters of the Americas, and Altar-Rosary Societies have been vital to parish life in the last twenty years. Their contributions in time and money have been important to the maintenance of parish properties and the social life of the parishes. It was a sad day in April 1997 when the Catholic Daughters (Court Holy Name of Jesus #1484), after numerous years of declining membership, finally voted to disband. This organization was founded in 1948 and for many years Catholic Daughters was the largest women's organization in the parish with over 100 members. It was a source of financial support and enriched parish life with many social events. Though societies such as the Catholic Daughters have declined, parishioners are involved in other ways through service as lectors, servers, Eucharistic ministers, choir members, ushers, and on committees vital to parish life.

In recent years responsibility for many social activities has been assumed by the Pastoral Council's Social Life Committee. It has organized parties and receptions for high school graduates, adult converts and the families of children baptized during the previous year. Receptions for new parish members have become an annual event. Since 1995 annual wedding jubilee celebrations have been held honoring couples married 25 years and more. Dinners, coffee hours and ice cream socials have been enjoyed by parishioners. In 1994 the Social Life Committee prepared a welcome packet for new parishioners. The work of this committee, as well as that of other Pastoral Council committees, has strengthened our parishes.

The spiritual life of the parishes continued to thrive in the 1990s. In November 1992 a Children's Liturgy of the Word was started for children in grades K-5 who attend the 8:30am mass on Sunday. The children adjourn to the basement of Holy Name church during the first part of the mass for a scripture program specifically designed for their benefit. Father Kramberg re-instituted a Bible Study series in 1993 which still meets. Weekly bulletins have included inspirational messages and a question box section with answers to questions commonly asked about the Church and its teachings.

One of the most significant steps in the spiritual life of Catholics was launched in 1990 when Pope John Paul II proclaimed the 1990s as the Decade of Evangelization. Under the leadership of Father Marullo and later Father Kramberg, Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes were among the first in the diocese to make evangelization a focal point of their mission. An Evangelization Committee was established as a component of the Pastoral Council; its goal is to "promote a richer understanding of God's Word in our lives, personal spiritual growth and a more total response to God's action in our hearts". The committee oversees religious formation for youth and adults, evangelization home-visiting teams, vocations promotion, the pro-life movement and Christian Initiation teams in our parishes. The parish pro-life movement has involved parishioners in the Right to Life marches and the Life Chain demonstrations in Plattsburgh as well as annual pro-life demonstrations in Washington, DC. The Christian Initiation Team, started in 1993, is responsible for the instruction and preparation of adult converts to the Catholic faith.

The Evangelization Team first received training in 1992. Since then the team has visited Catholic homes to encourage spiritual growth and commitment to the Church. The team regularly visits the homes of candidates for First Communion and Confirmation.

This past year (1997) evangelization became the centerpiece of a Paulist program adopted by the Diocese of Ogdensburg called "Disciples in Mission". This is a three year evangelism effort which begins during the 1998 Lenten season. Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes also received a grant of $10,300 from the Koch Foundation to promote evangelization. Evangelization efforts among Catholics is particularly important in the 1990s. Participation at mass is down over the last 30 years. Approximately 30% of parishioners attend mass regularly. The Koch Foundation grant will assist our parishes in our mission as the world prepares to celebrate the 2,000th birthday of our Savior, Jesus Christ.

The rich heritage of Holy Name and St. Matthew's parishes over the last 150 years owes much to the pastors, assistant pastors and the Sisters of St. Joseph assigned to them. Often they have shepherded the parishes through difficult times. The alarming decline in vocations to the priesthood and to religious communities is reaching serious proportions. The consequences of this crunch have been felt locally. Where three priests served the two parishes twenty years ago only one is available today. 1997 was the first time in eighty years that the Sisters of St. Joseph were unable to assign at least one sister to Holy Name School. This situation can be viewed as a crisis; however, it can also be an opportunity for laity to assume more responsibility for the day to day duties and the spiritual mission of the local parishes. This can assure the success of the parishes in the 21st century as well as bring spiritual growth to those involved.
